ENTERTAINED FOR CONSCRIPTED MEN

Interesting and Inspiring Program Presented to Members of Department Contingent—Large Number Present.

The Carroll Council 586 Knights of Columbus had as their guests last evening in their club rooms the conscripted men of this city and surrounding community who have been certified for service at the Rockford cantonment. A large attendance was on hand to take advantage of the invitation extended by the Knights of Columbus.

Inspiring talks as to the causes, justification and the share of the United States in the great war were given by speakers. Rev. Father and money gave one of the most inspiring and sincere talks of the evening and left a lasting impression with the men in regard to the work which they were about to take up. He said that these men who will soon leave us to prepare for the great struggle have been presented with a great opportunity and one in which they will play an important part. The sincerity of his talk proved to the assembled departing men that they were embarking on a movement which was all important to them, their parents, and to the whole country.

J. J. Cunningham gave a talk on the history of the causes of the conflict between the nations. His talk fully explained and proved the justice of the entrance of the United States in the war. Not only did he justify the entrance of this country into the war, but he said that it was the duty and opportunity of the young men of today to take part in this struggle to save this nation from oppression.

William H. Dougherty gave the last formal talk of the evening. He spoke with the warlike spirit of the idealism of the activities and life of Bismarck fully forecasted the present war and the grave conflict against world democracy. Bismarck, he said, sounded the keynote of the German idea of government when he said that the people cannot rule by themselves and that they must be ruled by an autocrat. Now the two forms of government have come to the test and it is a question whether we shall live under the German rule or maintain our free and independent state.

Joseph M. Connors gave a few parting words to the business men of the city. He told the men how proud the city of Janesville and surrounding community were of them and that they would be thought of as those who went forth to take advantage of a great opportunity.

Robert Daley rendered two or three inspiring songs, followed by short talks by the departing men.

James Quinn, Frank Gleason, David Cunningham and Earl Garbutt spoke a few words for the departing men and thanked the Knights of Columbus for the entertainment of the evening.

Matthew Ryan, a member of Company M, was home from Camp Douglas and told of his life at the camp for the interior of the men.

Dr. W. H. McGuire acted as speaker of the evening and gave a short talk to complete the evening's entertainment. Following the speeches a cake and luncheon was served for all those present.

SCHOOL GARDENERS TO RECEIVE DUE CREDIT

First Fall Meeting of the Commercial Club Directors Takes Up Plans For Entertainment For Contestants.

There were 320 school gardeners in the competition under the direction of A. B. West and A. P. Lovejoy of the Commercial club during the past year according to Mr. Lovejoy, in his report at the first fall meeting of the Commercial club held Monday noon.

Some sort of field day is proposed for a day in which all of those participating in the various contests of the county with their parents and friends, and those interested in the competitive work can gather possibly at the Fair Grounds. This matter is under consideration by the committee in charge and developments are looked for which will be interesting, a little later. It developed in a report from R. E. Wisner, that Rock county boys who exhibited their calves and pigs at the state fair, practically swept all prizes for the entire state. In calves they secured first, second and fourth prizes, while they took everything in prizes for pigs.

This was a mighty encouraging for the young people and will be an incentive to further effort another year. President Parker called upon the chairman of all of the committees for reports which they might have to make, and the activities of the club are to be pushed from this time through the season. The Chairman Connors of the Retail committee urged the retail division to interest themselves with the salesmanship class under Mr. Irwin of the extension division of the university. The first meeting occurs Wednesday evening of this week. An opportunity is presented for those interested in salesmanship to acquire splendid knowledge at the very nominal cost of $1.00 for six lessons.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Saloon Keepers of Janesville: The great Bowery Mission in New York City is headquarters for a prayer league which circles the globe, and among the members of the league are hundreds of men who were once just common drunkards of the worst type, men who had sunk to the lowest condition possible to humanity.

These men, penniless, homeless, many of them, homeless, drawn by the signing and the tones of the great organ, go into the mission in a condition of sin, depravity and circled by the snow in the blood of the Lamb, and many of them after only one visit. They are fixed to spend long, useful years in the service of the Master, who so graciously healed the diseased and depraved appetite that they never desire to taste alcohol again.

Is it any wonder that these men have the faith to pray the fervent of fecal prayer that availed much? Is it any wonder that with their fellow workers they constitute a spiritual force—and a power in prayer? They get what they go after! And they get it to such an extent that hundreds of requests for prayer are sent to them and acknowledged, and answered prayer come to them from Maine to California.

There have been two requests sent to the league, one some time ago, and one for the week beginning September 22nd, that they would pray that the saloon keepers of Janesville, Wisconsin, might see the iniquity of their work and turn to the Lord.

Each request sent in is prayed over for a week, and for fourteen days. At the noon hour, from the place into which God has reached down and rescued many a poor, miserable drunkard, will this gracious prayer for you, that you may be saved, and have gone straight to the ear of the Almighty.

And not only from the mission do these prayers arise. The thousands of members of the league are scattered over the earth, and those who are too far away to learn the subjects, pray for the work, pray that those prayers at headquarters may be granted. And as the noon hour is constantly changing, and as there is never a moment when it is not present at some point, so twice seven times a day, this prayer will be prayed for you, that you may be saved, and have gone straight to the ear of the Almighty.

No, do not doubt that those prayers are being heard. The prayers of the first week were heard. Those prayers of conscience which some of you, especially the drugists who answer the guile of a respectable business, furnish strong drink, experienced, are evidences that the prayers were heard and that God has begun his gracious work.

You, then, are in the hands of God, and the Bible says it is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God, and from now on you know that every time a drop of alcohol is passed over your bar to your neighbor wrong, you are working against God.

You probably would have asked some other favor, rather than this, but believe me, neither heaven or earth could render a greater service that work which will be done for you during the week beginning September 22nd, and in which the Christians of Janesville who have great assurance in the power of prayer are asked to join.

The Father is watching expectantly. He says, "My son, give me thine heart." Christ says, "Come unto me." The angels are waiting to begin their rejoicing over the sinner that repenteth.

Yours in the name of Christ,
LUCY A. GRANGER,
421 Augusta street.

To the Editor of the Gazette: With reference to the article in your issue of Monday, September 17th, we ask that you allot us space in your valuable publication wherein we may make an explanation regarding the aforesaid matter.

It has never been our custom to issue reserved seat tickets for matinees, and when Mr. Benedict purchased the fourteen tickets he mentioned in his article, he really purchased pass checks which entitled the holders thereof to pass through our doors and select their seats—he bought unserved seats.

We take issue with Mr. Benedict when he states that he held numbered checks for seats, because such tickets were not issued to him. He had no tickets reserved for any matinee, unless special announcement is made in advance.

When Mr. Benedict's party arrived at the house he practically filled up, and because he could not pick the seats he desired left the theatre even though we offered him box seats which cost 50c per person instead of 20c, as did the tickets he purchased. We do not intend to let him take advantage of anyone. We are here to serve the public, and in the several weeks we have operated this theatre never had such a complaint, and if Mr. Benedict could have been made to realize that he was being purchased seats he would not have arisen at a situation would not have arisen.

Manager Apollo Theatre.

NURSES ENTERTAIN AT MERCY HOSPITAL

Hold Dancing Party In Dedication of New Auditorium In Nurses' Home.

Between sixty and seventy people gathered at the Mercy Hospital last evening for an evening's entertainment in celebration of the completion and opening of the new hall, which has but recently been installed in the nurses' home adjoining the hospital building.

All of the twenty-two nurses who comprise the staff at the hospital, together with several graduate nurses, presided at the table, and all parts of the county attended the affair. Dancing was the main feature of the evening, and with music furnished by a four piece orchestra from the institute for the blind made the evening a most pleasant one.

The generosity of the institute in donating the orchestra free of charge to the hospital won the hearty appreciation of the nurses and all parts of the county and their guests.

Late in the evening refreshments were served to the guests. The affair was the most successful in the history of the hospital and had been planned for some time as a fitting dedication for the hall which will be of so much use to the nurses and attendants living at the home.

STATE AFFAIRS.

Apparently the conference held in Milwaukee during state fair week, at which political aspirants for office all over the state gathered to compare notes and take stock, ended in one conclusion: that Emanuel Philipp will be the candidate of the republicans at the next state election. Governor Philipp, while not officially announcing his candidacy, is apparently the strongest man mentioned. While many have differed with him on the expediency of some of his official acts, still the fact remains that he has given the state one of the best if not the best business administrations on record.

There was a disappointed lot of politicians who departed for their homes the latter part of the week. Many a boomlet had been punctured and some had died aborning. Of course Philipp will have opposition in his own party. It would be a strange condition if the disgruntled followers of La Follette did not seek to center on a candidate to defeat him. While this element is materially weakened, still it is worth considering in any calculations as with it will be an element that refuse to forgive Philipp for his veto of the liquor referendum.

Even though the federal government has placed its official seal upon the manufacture of whiskey and national prohibition seems nearer than ever, still the fact remains that many believe that the voters of Wisconsin should have been given the opportunity of deciding for themselves this important question of the social life of the entire state. The element which will unite on some candidate against Philipp will not be the old alignment, but an entirely new one, and will number in its ranks many of his former friends and supporters. Philipp is doubtless the strongest conservative republican who has been mentioned. The fact he is now in office will have much weight with the final vote. His attitude on the war question also pleases others and he will not be without friends and supporters. The consensus of opinion in Milwaukee was that Philipp would be re-nominated and elected unless some unforeseen happening occurred.

OUR DRAFT ARMY.

Slowly but surely the federal government is gathering into its folds the new national army created by the selective draft. Rock county is sending its share; Janesville, Edgerton, Evansville, Deloit, and every village and township are furnishing their quota. The draft has not been exclusive and every line of activity has been affected by it. While some have apparently escaped the first call, even though ordered up for examination, their time will doubtless come later when the present needs which were considered by the various boards are not so urgent.

It is safe to say that out of the ten million men named at the first selective draft, every able-bodied man will be called upon for service before the present needs of a national army are over. This is not a war of days, or weeks, or months, but of years. Military authorities have looked into the future and anticipate that there will never be a day for years to come when the huge army contingents erected by the government for the training of this new army, will not be occupied by troops.

It has taken the United States a long time to awaken to the need of an armed force as a war preparation. The small army then down in congress and the "Willful Twelve" in the United States senate, have brought the present condition of unpreparedness upon this country. It is useless to regret the past, but it is safe to say that had the United States had a sufficient armed force, a navy well drilled and equipped, no nation on this globe would have dared take on the liberties that have been taken for the federal government have been compelled to suffer the indignities that have been showered upon it. These men who assembled today in the Court House park as a part of the Rock county contingent, are going to a federal camp to be drilled as soldiers. Upon them depends largely the future of this nation. Their responsibility is a grave one and they apparently realize it. They come from factories, from stores, from offices, from banks and from farms. They are the backbone of the nation and no honor too great can be paid them on this the eve of their departure.

READING FOR THE SOLDIERS.

"Clip as well as knit," is the request of the army men for the soldier boys. Anything in the way of newspaper clippings, or still better, whole newspapers or magazines, would be more than welcome in the camps, particularly in France.

Nothing would do a homesick soldier any more good than to be made a regular recipient of his home newspaper. If you can't afford a subscription for him, put up back numbers of the paper and send them to him. If you did feel like putting him on the list, he would bless you.

Much is said about the need for keeping our soldier boys away from the temptations of army life. One of the greatest causes of vice is an unoccupied mind. If the army lines are well supplied with tents where there is plenty of interesting reading matter, a great many idle hours will be pleasantly filled. The fellow who is quietly reading the home paper or an American magazine is not chasing around the outskirts of the camp looking for trouble.

There isn't any possibility of getting too much of this stuff. The home paper will be read by soldiers who come from many miles distant and know nothing of the place where it is published. But anything American will look good to them. Our popular magazines will be thumbed over until they are reduced to rags.

Arrangements will be made for forwarding to the soldiers large quantities of old magazines and newspapers. Let us all begin now to save this material. It will all be needed. It will take but a few moments of time and a bit of postage to get it on the way. Let us not begrudge this bit of friendly co-operation with our boys, who are giving so much to their country, and who need all the good cheer that the home folks can send them.

The congressmen are to be drafted after adjournment for patriotic speeches in their districts. A cross roads audience will look good to them, after delivering carefully prepared speeches to a dozen or two members at Washington, half of whom are reading newspapers and the other half are sleep.

It is said the government may require the price of coal to be reduced. They didn't do things that way in the good old days before the coal operators allowed the Washington situation to get away from them.

There are ten states that have as yet neglected to choose their state flower, but the governors have so far carelessly failed to call the legislatures in extra sessions to attend to it.

So far the men who got appointed on the exemption boards as a pleasant way of spending their August vacation, are still looking for rest and change.

It is a mighty good thing for our submarines to get practice, but they needn't get their experience by ramming any more heavily loaded excursion boats.

It's awful what a lot of dependents the young men have now when it comes to the draft examinations. They give no hint of it when they are courting their best girls.

Who says that our immigrants are still hyphenated, when a man, such as a Bohemian sounding name as Bezek has become manager of the Pittsburgh "Pirates" ball team?

If our young men could be as free from disabilities now as they are when qualifying for the college and school ball teams, there wouldn't be so many exemption claims.

It looks as if the people who set out to corner the tomato crop would be in the tomato soup.

So far as heard from the boys are not worrying any on account of the reported shortage of shoe blacking.

SATISFACTION

is part of what you pay for when you buy investments from us; there is no extra charge for it. We have sold satisfactory securities here in Rock Co. for the last 18 years. These securities are in the form of individual farm mortgages and farm land bonds. Our own money is invested in these securities, the mortgages being taken direct from the borrower and not purchased from a broker. We can therefore recommend them as good.

Come in and see these securities; we have some on hand at all times.

COMPANY EQUIPMENT PASSES INSPECTION

Camp Douglas, Sept. 16.—The inspection order for Sunday morning for the members of Company M was as follows:

Cots will be arranged in front of the barracks with equipment "A" arranged thereon in the usual manner.

In addition to the inspection of equipment and arms, an inspection for bodily cleanliness will be carried out.

The poncho will be folded and placed on the ground at the foot of the cot. Each man will remove his shoes and socks and stand upon his poncho. The socks will be pulled on each hand and when the inspecting officer approaches each man will extend his hands with fingers spread out, displaying both the bottoms and upper parts of each sock.

Shirts will be neatly cleaned and polished and placed on the poncho at the right of the feet.

Shirts will be folded O. D. and shall be unbuttoned down to and including the third button. Identification tags will be worn. A suit of underwear and two pair of socks should be displayed on each cot.

All clothing shall be clean. Men must be clean shaven. This order is a good deal like the other orders on inspection day and plainly show the people of Janesville what inspection day is like in Camp Douglas. Some Saturdays we have "Field Inspection," while on other days we have "Barracks Inspection."

There was a goodly number at the church services this morning to hear a fine sermon by Chaplain Gustav Sterns. Miss Grubbe, a soloist from Milwaukee, sang a couple of pieces, and the quartet from the headquarters company also sang.

The afternoon was taken up by ball games and other things of the sort. Bezek, of Company F, won a ball game from Company F of Milwaukee this afternoon.

COMPANY NOTES.
The first sergeant's tent is now equipped with a floor. It is not a hardwood floor, nor does it have carpets on it, but it is a whole lot better than a common dirt floor. Sergeants Ryan, McDermott and Beard have their quarters in this tent. A few of the other boys also have wooden floors that they carried over from the third regimental grounds.

Lutheran church services were held this evening at the M. E. church in town. The sermon was given by Rev. L. A. Wachholz of Camp Douglas.

Corporal Meyers, of otherwise known as "Chief," is doing a rushing business with the taping outfit and our boys are having a great deal of work done. Corporal Meyers is sure a good hand at this kind of work and his prices are very reasonable. Sergeant McDermott is receiving a few boxes of candy as a result of his advertising in these columns. (It pays to advertise.)

Sergeant Flannery wants to thank the young ladies who were so kind and thoughtful to write a few lines. The sergeant gets mighty lonesome and likes to hear from all the young ladies.

Cook Griffin had a circus all his own today. The cook was dressed up as a "Chink," then as a "Hobo," and a number of other take-offs. He is sure a joke and keeps all the boys in good humor. He is also a fine cook.

WANT ADS.
Wanted—Private Hanson would like a little "summertime," because it is getting cold up here.

Wanted—Corporal Meyers to put a large tattoo on my arm. Mechanic Thiele.

Wanted—A little "pie." Members of Company M.

The detail for today was as follows: In charge of quarters—Sergeant Flannery.

TO A LADY KNITTING

Little woman, hourly sitting,
Something for a soldier knitting,
What in fancy can you see?
Many pictures come to me.
Through the stitch that now you're making

I behold a bullet breaking;
I can see some soldier lying
In that garment slowly dying.
And that very bit of thread
In your fingers turns to red.
Gray today, perhaps tomorrow
Crisscrossed by the blood of sorrow.

It may be some hero daring
Shall that very thing be wearing
When he ventures forth to give
Life that other men may live.
He may braver wield the saber
As a tribute to your labor.
And for that, which you have knitted,
Better for his task be fitting
When the thread has left your finger
Something of yourself may linger.
Something of your lovely beauty
May sustain him in his duty.

Some one's boy that was a baby
Soon shall wear it, and it may be
He shall write and tell his mother
Of the kindness of another
And her spirit shall careen you,
And her prayers at night shall bless you.
You may never know its story.

REHBERG'S*OUR $15 SUIT SPECIAL

Despite adverse conditions, we still present extraordinary suit values for $15.00. The thousands of men who have heretofore relied upon us to give them extra value at this price will not be disappointed this fall. We prepared for their accommodation a long time in advance of their needs. While we are able to completely satisfy them now, the outlook for the more distant future prompts us to suggest that it would be wise not only to provide for their present necessities but also for their requirements some months in advance.

As heretofore, we offer a good range of materials cut in the prevailing fashion and made up by skilled tailors. It's impossible to secure more genuine value for...

Cannot know the grief or glory
That are destined now and hover
Over him your wool shall cover,
Nor what spirits shall invade it
Once your gentle hands have made it.

Little woman hourly sitting,
Something for a soldier knitting,
This no common garb you're making,

These, no common pains you're taking
Something lovely, holy fingers
O'er the needles in your fingers
And with every stitch you're weaving
Something of yourself you're leaving.
From your gentle hands and tender
There may come a nation's splendor
And from this, your simple duty
Life may win a fairer beauty.

TALK to LOWELL*THE COAL SITUATION

From Reliable Information Which we Have
We Fear That There Will be an Actual
Shortage of Coal the Coming Winter

We have an enormous increase in summer orders for Coal and in justice to our customers we feel that we cannot take any more orders for hard coal until our present orders are filled.

Anticipating this condition we bought and stored a considerable amount of Pocahontas Mine Run which is the best substitute for hard coal. We believe from now on practically no more Pocahontas will come west of Chicago. While this supply lasts we will accept orders at $9.50 cash.

We have another substitute for hard coal in Petroleum Coke screenings mixed with Franklin County soft coal at $8.00 cash. The Petroleum Coke burns off the soot and keeps the firebox and pipes clean.

We are assured that we will have our proportion of the anthracite supply and will book orders subject to receiving the coal; the price to increase or decrease according to Government regulation.

We seriously advise our customers and the public generally to make preparation to conserve their fuel supply.

The Daily Novelette

STANLEY.

(This week's mystery.)

"Oh, Stanley," cried Marjoram, "let's catch him at his arm extended, but he's the most perfectly magnificent thing you simply ever saw."

"Who?" said Stanley, distrustfully.

"Why, that sailor boy, of course. Let's just see how perfectly magnificent he is."

"Oh, Stanley, do you suppose he has his sea legs on?"

"Enough," granted Marjoram.

"Look at it if it might ruin it the weather changes, doesn't it?"

"Enough," she screamed suddenly.

"Did you see him, Stanley—that perfectly magnificent little marine?"

"Wouldn't you just love to kiss him?"

"I mean, wouldn't you?"

"I had a postal from Adenoid Addison from Atlantic City today," observed Stanley, grinding his teeth.

"Stupidly," she exclaimed. "Oh, what an absolutely perfect little marine!"

"Look how straight, Stanley, look how tall!"

Marjoram stopped suddenly and caught hold of a mailbox so emotionlessly that his finger nails bit into the iron.

"Lookit here, Marjoram," he gulped. "Once and for all, are you out with me or are you out with the United States Army?"

"Oh, Stanley," she cooed. "Didn't I just get through telling you that I thought your necktie was perfectly beautiful? Oh, Stanley, look!—an artillery man, I can tell by the thing on his hat. Where's his cannons and things, Stanley?"

"Query: Was Stanley a uniformed man or a civilian? No awards will be made for correct answers this week.—Ed. the Morning Glory."

DEMONSTRATE VALUE OF ANTITETANUS TREATMENT

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Paris, Sept. 18.—During the last meeting of the Surgical Society, Doctor Fiedel mentioned a fact which seemed to show the value of preventive injections of anti-tetanus serum.

After the battle of Ourea, a certain number of wounded French and German soldiers were collected in a hospital. A German doctor had remained with the German wounded and at a rough sufficient serum was placed at his disposal, he refused to use it for his men, saying that he considered such injections had no preventive value.

The French wounded received normal doses of the serum. Of twelve German wounded, six contracted tetanus (lock-jaw) and died, while no French wounded showed any symptoms of it.

This example of the serum's preventive efficiency has all the more weight because all the men had been wounded under the same conditions and on the same tetanus-infected ground.

AMUSEMENTS

(Notices furnished by the theatres.)

MYERS THEATRE.

Everybody in town will soon be either whistling or humming the strains of "That Russian Rag," the catchy Earl Carroll melody, which runs through the piece and persists in haunting you when away from the theatre. It is undoubtedly the most popular song of the year. It is only one of the many clever numbers in "Make Yourself At Home," however. "Spice is one of the principal ingredients of the clever book, which Harry Segall has concocted. There is just enough plot to furnish plausibility for a series of most ludicrous episodes and allow opportunity for the fun making talents of the clever company which Segall has banded together.

"Make Yourself At Home" comes to the Myers Theatre Friday, September 21.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Anita Stewart may not sever her present connection with Vitagraph.

A few days ago, it was announced that this bright and popular star had formulated plans whereby she was to head her own company. Louis B. Mayor of Boston was to become president of the organization, and was to direct its destiny.

Evidently this arrangement did not meet with the approval of the management. President Albert E. Smith of that organization has secured an injunction restraining his young star from working for any other person or corporation until she fulfills her obligations under the contract in existence between her and her present employers.

In fact the restriction is one of the most sweeping ever stipulated in a similar injunction. Not only must Miss Stewart remain with the present organization until her contract expires, but she is further ordered not to make any announcement or her plans or to circulate any press matter which may tend to injure her present employers until her term is ended.

And still further, any person associated with her or employed by her, is also thus enjoined.

The basis of this sweeping injunction is the claim that they spent a good deal of money advancing the interests of the star and demand services in full.

Alice Brady's picture, "Betsy Ross," is close at hand. The story revolves around the making of the first Stars and Stripes, is laid in and near Philadelphia, where Betsy's original dwelling still stands. This structure is reproduced with fidelity in the picture play.

Helen Holmes has thrown romance to the winds and turned her California ranch into a hog run. She has 500 of 'em and a Japanese super-intendant named Iji.

Grace Darmond is doing her bit by using the allowance she formerly spent on perfumes and sachets for surgical dressing for the soldiers.

Vivian Martin will be shown next as a lonely maid longing for her

California mountain home, in "The Sunset Trail."

"Pigs are a better bet than alfalfa," says Helen Holmes, who as her press agent tells us, turned her California ranch into a hog run.

Douglas Fairbanks is always doing little things like giving his wife diamond jangle and his son Shetland ponies, they do say.

Madge Kennedy knits between scenes and rises to assert she thinks knitting is the duty of every woman these days.

The license number of Bryant Washburn's new car is 313313. Anybody who can't find thirteen in that is blind.

Fatty Arbuckle first appeared in place as assistant cook in a one-reel comedy. "Oh, Doctor," will be his newest.

FOUR TONS OF CARP IN ONE HAUL AT MENASHA

Neeah, Wis., Sept. 18.—The company engaged in removing carp from the Menasha river below the dam, recently made a haul of about four tons. The fish are caught in large nets and shipped to the larger cities. The work is under the supervision of a game warden who sees that the game fish are returned to the water.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Mrs. Thompson: (1) I have a light complexion and eye color. Can you tell me of a remedy to make them grow dark? Will they grow long and curly?

(2) Kindly tell me of a remedy that will make the skin smooth and refined looking. My skin is not rough by any means, but it is inclined to be a little drawn looking and I am not in my twentieth year.

BROWN EYES (1) There is nothing any better for the eyelashes than vasoline. It should be applied in small quantities with a toothpick so that the eyelids will not look greasy. You cannot avoid a greasy appearance no matter how you try, but this is true with vasoline.

(2) The eyelashes will make you grow, but it will not make you curly unless they curl naturally. To clip them makes them stubby and unattractive.

(3) Steam the face at night with water and then massage a good cream into the skin. Ask the druggist to recommend a cream. If you are already using one and find it satisfactory, make a change and see how much another cream will do.

Fact: The remedy you mention for making the breath sweet after eating onions would not hurt you. I cannot say whether it would be effective because testing remedies is not in my line.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a girl fourteen years old and I think I am too young to go with boys, but my friend goes with them all the time. She told me to write and ask you if it wasn't all right to go. I told her I thought you would agree.

with me, and not with her. (2) I have corns and bunions growing. Can you kindly give me a remedy to cure them? (3) If a girl has an oval face and is five feet nine inches tall and is graceful and has winning eyes, do you think she would make a good movie actress?

DOTTY DIMPLES. (1) A girl of fourteen is too young to go with boys. (2) There are several good corn cures on the market; get your druggist to recommend one, and follow the directions implicitly. (3) Dimple gives relief from a bunion, but will not cure it.

Of course the only thing that can be done for feet is your condition is to wear shoes that fit. When buying shoes be sure to have the line on the inside of the shoe straight or almost straight. The line on most shoes turns out, and as a result the shoe causes many corns and bunions.

(3) The girl would have to be talented, able to act, or she would not make a good movie actress no matter how pretty she was.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) How should you sit at the table, with one hand on your lap or on the table while you eat? (2) What will make my hair grow fast?

M. K. (1) Part of the time one way and part of the time the other way, but the table at any time. (2) Get some "lanolin" at the drug store and rub a very little bit of it in the scalp every two or three nights.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: A boy friend of mine is keeping company with his girl cousin, and they are to be married next month. (1) Must the groom secure the marriage license in the girl's home town? (2) Must the girl have her parents' permission to be married and be twenty years or more of age?

(1) No. (2) It is not necessary for the girl to have her parents' permission if she is of age. This age differs in the various states. You will probably find out the information you want in the "World's Almanac."

Blue Eyes and Brown Eyes: Consult a lawyer. He is the only one who can advise you definitely. Some thing should be done at once.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

Fruits and fish are eaten with silver knives and forks, though if fish knives are not provided a piece of butter in the left hand answers the purpose as well, with the fork in the right.

MRS. K.: When entertaining at luncheon, if only ladies are present, the guest you wish most to honor should sit at your right, and the next in point of honor at your left. At dinner when gentlemen are present, the lady to be honored sits at the right of the host and the gentleman so distinguished sits at the right of the hostess, this applies to luncheon also if gentlemen are present. At a luncheon for ladies the hostess usually asks her mother, sister or most intimate friend to sit at the foot of the table, opposite herself, and when ready to rise from the table she catches the lady's eye, nods and both rise together.

ENID: When staying at a hotel, you should appear at breakfast in street clothes, and if wearing a hat, you should never appear in a public dining-room in any costume suggestive of negligence.

this letter I shall probably be again at my post training the men. "Good-bye, little wife, so near and yet so far. When shall I see you again?"

"Ever your loving "BERTRAM." (To be continued.)

Household Hints

MENU HINTS (Desertless Day.) Sliced Bananas. Boiled Rice with Top of Milk. Buttered Toast. Coffee. Luncheon Salad. Cottage Cheese. Sliced Tomatoes. Graham Bread. Butter. Coffee. Dinner. Hamburger Steak with Brown Gravy. Steamed Potatoes. String Beans. Homemade Bread. Blackberry Jam. Coffee.

TO MAKE A GOOD POT ROAST When you buy your roast get a few thin slices of meat with it. Put the meat in an aluminum pan, if you have it, or any suitable vessel and half a little of it. Then put in the meat and brown it on both sides, with the lid off the kettle and the light fairly high.

It will take about five minutes for each side. After the meat has been browned put on the cover and cook two hours on the lowest fire possible. At the end of two hours, put in the flour and the lower side and brown. Then brown the other side after sprinkling some flour on that. Every ten minutes add a little water.

By sprinkling a little water on top of the meat occasionally you will not get so much thickening your gravy afterward. For the last hour it is well to put an asbestos pad under the pan. This will make a delicious and inexpensive meal. A roast of three pounds is a good size for five people.

WHITE CAKE. One-half cupful shortening, one and one-half cupfuls sugar, three and one-half cupfuls flour, three cupfuls baking powder, one teaspoonful salt, one cupful water, one teaspoonful flavoring, whites of three eggs. Cream shortening and sugar slowly and cream together. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the liquid. Add flavoring, beat mixture thoroughly and last fold in stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Prepare layer cake tins by greasing them with a mixture of shortening and flour. Pour in cake mixture, put in moderate oven, allow heat to bake, at minutes, increase heat to rise for five minutes, end of fifteen minutes reduce heat to allow cake to shrink from the pan. Entire time for baking twenty minutes.

THE TABLE. Luncheon Dish—Make a white sauce from one cup milk thickened with one tablespoon flour rolled in one tablespoon butter, season to taste with salt and pepper. Chop coarsely one cup boiled macaroni, add it to the white sauce, and allow it to cook five minutes. Pour this over buttered toast and dust liberally with grated cheese. Set on top shelf of oven for a minute and serve very hot.

Corn Oysters—One pint grated corn, one egg, one cup cream, one evaporated milk, one cup flour, one-half teaspoonful baking powder, pinch of salt. Bake on griddle like cakes.

Real Chocolate Cake—Cream sugar, one cupful butter, add one cup sugar, one egg, one cup flour, three-fourths cup sweet milk, one and one-half cups flour, two tablespoons melted butter, chocolate, one teaspoonful vanilla, beat thoroughly and fold in stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Prepare layer cake tins by greasing them with a mixture of shortening and flour. Pour in cake mixture, put in moderate oven, allow heat to bake, at minutes, increase heat to rise for five minutes, end of fifteen minutes reduce heat to allow cake to shrink from the pan. Entire time for baking twenty minutes.

POLYGAMOUS SOLDIERS A PROBLEM FOR FRANCE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Paris, Sept. 18.—The military authorities have had to settle a knotty question. In the case of a military polygamist being killed, how should the widow's pension be allotted? The question has arisen through France having brought many native soldiers from Africa who belong to tribes where polygamy is the recognized practice. Every polygamist widow practice a share in the pension, the total of which will be the same as that granted to the widow of a monogamous soldier.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Young Folks, Brace Up!

The unnatural attitude and improper posture in sitting, standing and walking which school children and young men and women in college are allowed to assume, is deplorable from a physical, esthetic, and even moral point of view. writes Dr. S. Adolphus Knopf in the "New York Medical Journal," June 23, 1917. "I believe the young men and women in high schools and colleges consider the stooping shoulders, sunken in chest, and slouchy walk—the so-called society or debutante slouch—to be fashionable. They do. They get that notion from looking at fashion plates. The girl in the gown invariably trails one long, atrophied looking hoof from her starboard, quarter and sort of a section of her around the nethermost of her chest. And the life-like pictures our best ready made clothing manufacturers use to show off their creations, make the man look as if he had been stretched in a vise to prevent a vacuum. Then the chorus lady's pose is slouchy as slouchy as can be, off the movie screen, and the same seem to be to produce a good imitation of muscular comedy attire for street and social requirements.

"In reality," continues Dr. Knopf, "this attitude is thoroughly detrimental to chest development, and tends to create the habitus pectus described long ago as significant of tuberculosis by Hippocrates, the father of scientific medicine."

When appendicitis was less vulgar than it is today some society people affected it. Hay fever, also, was once supposed to be an exclusive malady of the idle rich. Later on neuritis, neurasthenia, visceroprosis and all those common old fashioned troubles had become the rage. No, the draft will drive it out of the young man's system. The draft is a fine thing for the young America. After the war the slouchy slouch will be monopolized by slackers and dandies who are content to hide behind a woman's skirts. Young America is going to learn to stand up again like a man. Chests are destined to return to vogue.

Young folks, brace up and stay in the game!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. A Damsel and Her Dilemma. I am studying under good instruction and my first lessons were in correct breathing. It seemed that ten minutes of correct breathing made me feel very dizzy. My lungs are weak. I have difficulty in using my diaphragm instead of the abdomen in breathing. Is it harmful to go without a corset for a whole week? (Time? Is coffee harmful for nervous time? I feel my heart beating like a drum. If you can recommend something to set the blood surging through my veins I will be the happiest girl in the world. ANSWER.—Deep breathing makes anyone not accustomed to it feel a little dizzy—intoxicated with the unusually large dose of oxygen pumped into the blood. That will annoy you less with longer practice. I don't see how you can possibly work your diaphragm and not use the abdominal muscles at the same time, in breathing. (Women naturally breathe more with the diaphragm.) I should say a corset if she goes without a corset 52 weeks in every year. She will never become a great singer if she depends upon corsets to preserve her figure. Coffee is a brain and kidney stimulant. Certain types of nervous trouble are certainly helped by coffee, and other types are made worse. Perhaps you would do well to cut down your dose or stop it for a time. To your blood surging, not only through your veins—where it really doesn't matter much whether it surges or just drags along—but also through your arteries, arterioles, capillaries, and sinuses, turn six somersaults night and morning and take two mls of oxygen three times a day on the hoof. Hoofs have long, wide heels and broad rounded soles.

The Business of Living

Bertram Near the Front Line Trenches Sees Death Reap an Awful Harvest.

Dear Mr. P.: "I left camp for the Belgian front two days ago. General Pershing and several officers of the line came on to see to watch the big offensive to be inaugurated in the near future. We were permitted to come because it was thought we could learn no where to watch war in the making. They are great people these Belgians, and the more you see of them the better you like them. I was detailed to watch the work of a division that is to send off this mine it has taken months to prepare. I went into the deep subterranean pass and extend clear under the German trenches. It is appalling the amount of work that is represented in one place we could actually see. We were so near to the Germans that would we not have been heard what was being said by these unsuspecting foes? The whole thing has been kept a profound secret all these months; that looks well for the honor of those men. Not one has let a word slip till now. I dare not send this till the mine has been blown up. The enemy would not let it pass. But I expect to remain here till after the battle, and then I shall be able to tell something of what occurred as well as of the preparations.

"Dear little woman, will the time come when this world will not spend all its strength and energy to destroy men? I am trying to kill and crush; am putting my whole energy into the task. You are working to build up to undo what the soldier of the other side is doing. Sometimes the whole thing staggers me. I have seen preparations for murder on so large a scale that I cannot credit the evidence of my senses. And we are civilized nations in this year of grace 1917. All because an ambitious man wanted to make a place for himself in the sun. I will finish this letter.

"YOUR BERTRAM."

"Five days later. "My Darling: My victory is an accomplished fact. I shall never forget what I saw. I hope to be able to do better work for the cause I am fighting for, because of what I have seen. The great mine was sent off last night and the result was certainly staggering. The whole German trench was blown up and the men were flying through the air. The midst of the confusion and demoralization that resulted the English troops advanced under a curtain of fire. The lurid glare cut terrible rain of exploding shells cut off the enemy from view utterly, and of course that saved the advancing troops from destructive fire. It was in the early morning, just at dawn, when the charge took place, and I tell you it was an impressive sight, that awful glare of explosives against the gray sky. The country is very flat and to obtain a view of what was going on I climbed a tree that gave me as wide a view of what was happening as was possible to obtain. What that morning the light shone upon! The glare was like the fire of inferno. The earth was as firm as if an earthquake had rent it. Whole regiments had been mown down before that withering fire and lay upon the ground. The English made a breach several miles wide and drove the Germans back to the next line of trenches, about four miles.
